FARM BUREAU FEDERATION FIGHTING

OHIO UTILITIES COMPANIES CUT IN TAX DUPLICATES

If Pipe Lines Win, Estimates Reveal, That Success of Efforts Now Underway, Will Cost the State More Than $400,000 a Year in Utilities Taxes.

Attempts of a score of Ohio utilities companies to reduce their tax duplicates approximately $400,000 are to be fought by the Ohio Farms Bureau Federation and the Ohio State grange, it was indicated Wednesday.

C. A. Dyer, legislative agent for both organizations, will direct the fight. Estimates revealed that success of efforts now under way will cost the state more than $400,000 a year in utilities taxes.

The present move is expected to be made against the Buckeye Pipe Line company, in suits now pending in county courts in Ohio, seeking to enjoin collection of taxes on full value of their property. More than a dozen other utilities companies, however, either have taken such action or contemplate similar moves to lower their taxes.

The drive to cut taxes by utilities companies has been under way in Ohio since 1920, with continuous success by the companies. The Buckeye Pipe Line Co., in 1920 filed suits in 35 Ohio county courts to block collection of taxes at the valuation carried on the tax duplicates.

The company contended its property was assessed at its full value while that of other concerns in the same district was assessed at part of its actual value.

The state tax commission then called a meeting of the county officials involved in an attempt to organize a concerted fight against this move by the utilities company. This failed and left the counties fighting alone.

The suits then were compromised with the individual counties, the company paying an average of slightly more than 50 per cent of the taxes it originally had been assessed. In the light of this success, the company the following year brought similar results except for some of the 1924 suits, which are still pending.

A federal court decision, and a decision in the Montgomery county courts favored the company. The Montgomery county case was that of the Dayton Street Railway company, which was successful in having 40 per cent of its property value stricken off the tax duplicates on the ground that it was taxed on its full value while other companies in Montgomery county paid taxes on only 60 per cent of actual valuation.

Following this, other Ohio companies, including the Ohio Public Service company and a score of utilities concern throughout the state adopted similar tactics and succeeded largely.

Records show that Franklin county settled with the Buckeye Pipe company for 60 per cent of its taxes in 1922 and with the Ohio Public Service company for 60 per cent of the taxes charged to it, and that on this compromise suits enjoining collection were dropped.

Members of the tax commission admitted being approached this week with suggestions that they join in a fight against this practice. They indicated, however, that they will fight only in cases where the companies say tax valuations made by the commission on utilities property is too high. County officials will be left virtually alone in the fight unless the two farm organizations are able to obtain state aid, apparently.

A bill introduced in the Ohio senate last winter gave the tax commission authority to equalize taxes in such disputes, and would have eliminated any basis for court action and consequent sub rosa settlements with

county officials individually, members of the commission said. The bill was defeated in the house, however, by a combination of farm and utility interests, the former believing it was a scheme to favor utilities corporations. The issue also is to be brought before the governor and the attorney general, it was said, and appeals will be made to enlist their aid in the fight.

LAW AGAINST POLLUTION OF OUR STREAMS

State Director of Health Made Exhaustive Survey of Eastern Plants.

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—The state department of health will soon begin enforcing provisions of the Edwards law prohibiting the pollution of streams, Dr. John E. Monger, state health director, declared today. Dr. Monger, with W. H. Dittoe, state sanitary engineer, has just returned from a two weeks' survey of eastern plants to determine the best systems for use.

Ohio industries and cities will spend $25,000,000 during the next five years, carrying out the program under supervision of the state.

Dr. Monger said it was agreed the system now in use thru Boston is the best and most economical.

SAND DISPELS CLOUDS

Dr. E. Francis Warren of Harvard university believes he will be able to "shoot down" the heaviest of clouds and fogs by his new invention as demonstrated recently at Bolling field, Washington, by army flyers. The process uses sand and he states that if enough airplanes are equipped with his device, it will not only be possible to break up clouds and cause rain but to remove fogs from over cities and harbors. The picture shows Lieut. W. E. Melville pouring the sand into the pit; directly beneath the wing can be seen a nozzle that sprays the sand through the air.

Toledo, O., July 29, (UP)—Clerks at the Trenton state bank, Trenton, Michigan, have failed to identify Frank Urbaytis, Toledoan, as one of six bandits who held up the bank on January 12 and shot and killed an assistant. Urbaytis is held at Columbus for the alleged robbery of a grocery store.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Answer and Cross Petition.
In the divorce suit of Mary DeCarlo against Nick De Carlo which was recently filed in the probate court, the defendant has filed an answer and cross petition. The cross petition alleges that there is a man in the case and that the plaintiff is trying to get rid of her spouse as she loves another, Arro Carpenter, a farm hand.

He also denies that he is guilty of gross neglect and claims that he was ill and unable to work, that he had hired the man, Arro Carpenter, to assist him on the farm and that his wife spent too much of her time in his farm hand's company and took rides with him often in defendant's automobile. He claims that he and the defendant have $1,500 in the Grove City National bank, that he spent $336 on repairing their home and $400 invested in a Ford automobile. He asks the court for a restraining order to protect his interests and from disposing of the automobile and furniture. A temporary restraining order was granted by Judge Adkins. I. H. Ruth, of Columbus, represents the plaintiff.

Trace 33,000 Deaths in Quake to Poison Gas

Tokyo.—The deaths of 33,000 persons at the army clothing depot in the quake-torn 1923 were caused by poison gas, according to a report of the great seismic visitation now in the hands of the seismic disaster prevention commission.

The commission consists of forty well-known scientists and experts. The commission is of the opinion that a great many of the earthquake victims, who were believed to have been burned to death in reality were killed by carbon monoxide gas and escaped the horror of being roasted alive.

BRYAN MEMORIAL.
A memorial meeting for the late Hon. W. J. Bryan will be given Sunday morning at 10:15 o'clock at the Lutheran church by Rev. G. J. Troutman.

ILLINOIS MAN INQUIRES OF BRYAN DEATH

Lincoln, Neb., July 29 (UP).—Mayor F. C. Zehrung, of Lincoln, today received a letter from a resident of Area, Illinois, and formerly of Nebraska, asking verification of the death of William Jennings Bryan.

The letter read:
"I heard amongst the conversations this morning that William J. Bryan is dead. I would appreciate very much if I could obtain that information from you. If the story of death is true, kindly write and let me know at what place his death occurred."

COMMISSION TO APPROVE CONTRACTS

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—Four members of the legislative advisory committee must approve contracts made by the state building commission, Attorney General Crabbe ruled today.

Crabbe also held that the committee has no authority to expend state funds to hire appraisal boards or engineers to pass upon proposed building sites except within the limits of a $3,000 appropriation made for the committee.

STATE CLAIMS ITS SHARE OF LIQUOR FINES

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—The suits to recover $300,000 the state claims is due as its share of liquor law fines collected in various cities, will be filed in September, Attorney General Crabbe has announced.

The suits will be to recover findings made by state examiners against officials who have failed to remit to the state treasury the proceeds claimed by the state.

Misses Ruth Dresbach and Pauline Neff were visitors in Columbus today.

OHIO DISTRICT CONVENTION OF KIWANIS

Dayton, O., July 30, (UP).—An endless variety of features will mark the eighth annual convention of the Ohio district of Kiwanis International, to be held here September 15-17, according to announcement made by H. B. Ohmer, chairman of the local entertainment committee.

There are ninety-six clubs in the state with a membership of approximately ten thousand.

A special trip thru the National Cash Register Co., the "model factory of the world," is being planned. A flying circus will be one of the chief features of the convention.

LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Sarah Mangues Died at Home and Hospital—Funeral Saturday.

Mrs. Sarah Mangues died Wednesday evening at the Home and Hospital, following an illness of eight months.

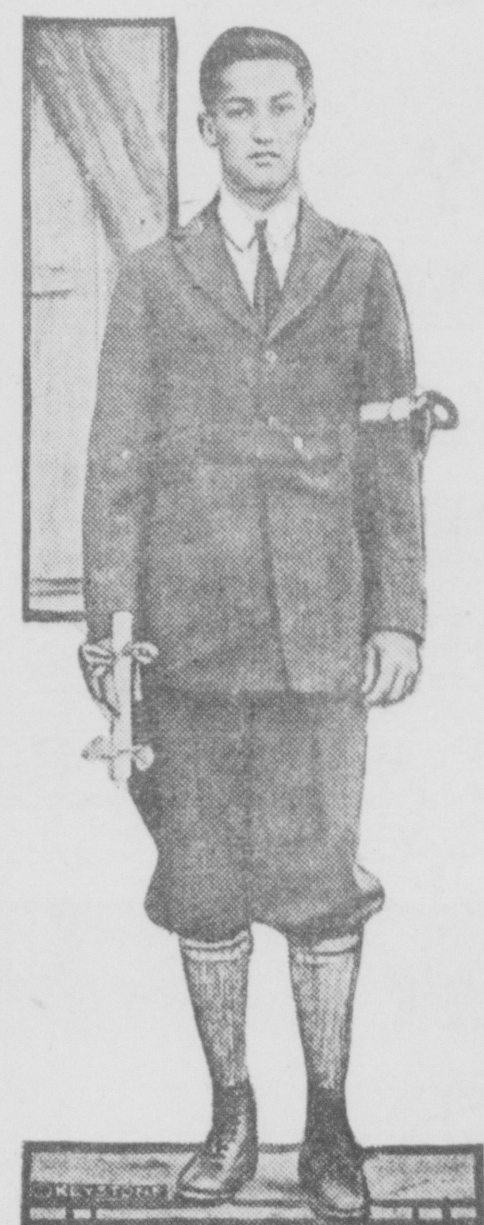

The deceased was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, June 23, 1845, and was a daughter of Eric and Mary Ann Shaw McMangues. She came to this county with her parents at the age of six years.

She was married to Emanuel Mangues in 1865, who died in 1910. Her husband was a Civil war veteran being a member of Company F, 90th regiment, O. V. I.

The deceased was a member of the United Brethren church.

Funeral services will be held at the Home and Hospital Saturday. Interment in Reber Hill cemetery.

ALONE IN HIS GLORY

Jasper Chamberlain was the graduating class of Brown academy of East Kingston, N. H. He was the only member of the graduating class, was class valedictorian, poet, etc., and when it came time for the diplomas, the roll began and ended with his name. There was dancing, a pageant, singing and orchestral music, all in honor of the graduating class of one.

Toledo, O., July 29, (UP)—Two men attacked and beat Stanley Kula, 28, here today. His skull was fractured. Kula was found by a passing motorist. He was unconscious.

DIED IN PARK AFTER PLAY WITH NIECE

Hough Brady Succumbs While Talking to Friend—Father Killed in Same Place.

Hugh Brady, 38, of 334 Buttles avenue, Columbus, a painter employed at the new Neil house, died suddenly Wednesday night on a bench in Goodale park, while conversing with a friend.

Brady's death came shortly after he had eaten his evening meal and had played with his niece, Rita Mohn, of the same address.

He went for a walk in the park, met a friend and they sat down. They were not there long, when Brady told his friend he was smothering and asked him to unbutton his collar. After the collar was opened Brady gasped, then died.

Brady's father was killed about 18 years ago in Goodale park when he was run down by a horse and buggy.

He is survived by two brothers, James A., and Thomas Brady, and two sisters, Mrs. James Callahan and Mrs. Daniel Mohn with whom he made his home.

He was a member of the painter's union.

The deceased was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Thomas Brady, formerly of this city.

YEAR'S WORK OF SALT CREEK SEWING CLUB

The ninth meeting of the Salt Creek Clothing club was held at the school building with eleven members and one visitor present. Most of the year's work was completed by the first and second year girls and some time was spent in reviewing the work and in team and individual demonstrations. The last meeting will be held, July 31, when all the work will be brought and will be scored by the girls.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT MAKES REPORT

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—Occupational diseases took a total of more than 400 women during a five year period ending this month, Dr. D. J. Kindel, chief of the industrial hygiene division of the state department of health, announced.

A total of 3242 cases were reported. The ratio of women sufferers was eleven to one. Skin diseases were the most prevalent, he said.

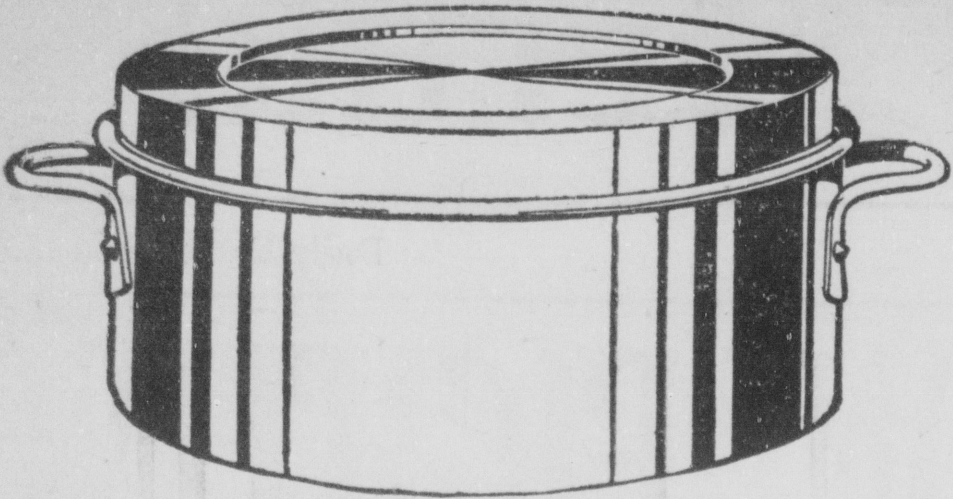

MAYOR'S COURT

Charles H. Kirkpatrick, who was placed under arrest Wednesday on the charge of rape, preferred by Stephen Van Buskirk, and released on a bond of $1,000 for his appearance in police court this morning, appeared and waived examination and was bonded over to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000 which he furnished and was released from custody.

Misses Mattie and Ella Crum and Emma Duncan spent the day in Columbus.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for August 2

THE EPISTLE OF JAMES

LESSON TEXT—Jas. 1:19-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only."—Jas. 1:22.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving and obeying.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Be Ye Doers of the Word.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Doers of the Word.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Religion According to James.

The book of James was written to Jewish Christians scattered abroad who were passing through sore trials and persecutions. The pre-eminent aim was to show these humble believers how to live in such trying times. James recognized the difficulties of Christian living resulting from the attitude of the unbelieving Jews, and knew also the added difficulties of pride, jealousy and cowardly compromises which might spring up within. He showed that all these must be met with the realities which inhere in the religion of Jesus Christ.

1. Receiving the Engrafted Word (vv. 19-21).

1. What Is the Engrafted Word?

"Engrafted" means implanted. In verse 18 he speaks of having been begotten by the Word. The figure is that of a planting of the seeds of truth. The Christian doctrines as contained in the Word, when quickened by the Holy Spirit result in regeneration. The divine method of regeneration is the preaching of God's word made living and active by the Holy Spirit.

2. How the Word Is Received (v. 19).

(1) "Be swift to hear." This means to be ready and eager to use every opportunity to get acquainted with God's word.

Obedience to this injunction will make one diligent in the reading of the Bible, and in attendance at the church services where the Word of God is being taught.

(2) "Slow to speak." From what follows we infer that this refers to religious controversies. It means that whether in the places of worship or in whatever circumstances, we should give respect and thoughtful attention to what our Christian brethren are saying.

(3) "Slow to wrath." Heated discussions sometimes develop in our conferences, even when we gather to consider the doctrines of God's word. Sometimes one may even fancy that anger is justifiable. In such cases we should remember the injunction, be slow to wrath.

3. The Reason for Receiving the Word (vv. 20-21).

"The wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God." Angry debating among Christians never helped to make known God's righteousness. Man's anger springs out of the fountain of his depravity. Therefore its expression can only have a blighting effect upon those who listen, and even upon the speaker in its reaction upon him.

4. Coming into Self-Knowledge (vv. 22-25).

Receiving the engrafted Word through swift response to hear, and obeying its holy precepts will result in that experimental knowledge of one's self which brings true blessings. By "doers of the Word," is meant those who make obedience their habitual attitude.

The truths of God's word will permeate their very life and be expressed in everything they do and say. Those who hear and do not obey are self-deceived. Those who go through the form of religion without coming under its power are likened to men who gaze into the mirror beholding the natural face, and then go away and forget how they look.

5. Pure Religion (vv. 26-27).

This means that those who have become doers of the Word will in their outer lives manifest the following traits:

1. Bridling the Tongue (v. 26).

This means that they will speak with discretion. God gave man two ears and but one tongue. The ears are exposed, but the tongue is walled in by the teeth. Just as the tongue reveals the condition of the physical system, so the use of the tongue reveals the religious condition.

2. Sympathizing With and Helping Those in Need (v. 27).

The widow and orphan are the symbols of helplessness and need. Those who have true piety will visit such and render the necessary aid.

3. Keeping Himself Unspotted From the World (v. 27).

The one who has the true life will separate himself from the world.

GOOD MANNERS IN MOTORING

Connecticut Commissioner Stoeckel Sees Need of Code of Ethics.

That the present lack of good manners in motoring calls for a code of ethics to be observed by automobile drivers, is the belief of Robbins B. Stoeckel, commissioner of the Connecticut state department of motor vehicles, whose views on this subject are being sent to the country-wide membership of the National Safety council. Mr. Stoeckel's suggestions are intended to impress motorists with the importance of courtesy to fellow drivers and pedestrians alike. His advice should not only help to prevent accidents but should keep some motor operators out of trouble.

Importance of Courtesy.
"To be a good driver, in the terms of applied ethics, is to be a person of good manners, truly an altruist, ready to see and appreciate the problems of others, to make proper allowances for them and to exercise even a little more patience, care and consideration than is actually called for by the letter of the law," declares Commissioner Stoeckel's bulletin.

Pointing out that there are certain actions which are so obviously bad manners that it becomes a source of wonder how any person can bring himself to commit one of them, Mr. Stoeckel cites examples, such as:

Driving an automobile through water or mud so as to splash same upon pedestrians, a common pastime with some motorists who have peculiar ideas of what constitutes a joke.

Falling to give proper warning to a pedestrian or other user of a highway. Even animals should receive reasonable notice.

Neglecting to give proper attention to headlights, thus often causing inconvenience and danger to others.

Disobeying the instructions received from traffic officers and trying to steal a few feet of space, instead of remaining in the proper spot, a practice that not only annoys pedestrians and other motorists but which is dangerous.

Starting an argument with the traffic officer is not only bad etiquette but is courting trouble with the law.

The expert driver must tone down his skill by not swiftly weaving in and out of a moderately moving stream of traffic.

A common offense against road etiquette is committed when a motor operator places his car at a crossing so as to obstruct pedestrian traffic, thus compelling pedestrians to walk around his machine.

Exercise of Kindness.
In conclusion, Commissioner Stoeckel says:

"The exercise of kindness to others, consideration and true courtesy will prevent any operator from getting a wrong attitude of mind for driving in traffic. Any operator who loses his temper, who becomes sulky, or is abnormal from any one of many different causes is unfit to drive because his automobile provides a medium of expression for his personality. If that personality is upset, he is bound to make trouble for himself or for others, generally for both."

To Remove Carbon From Cylinder of Gas Engine

Auto owners who wish to remove carbon from the gas engine cylinder by means of an oxygen flame may do so without injuring the mechanism if the following precautions are taken:
The radiator must be filled with water in order to keep water around the cylinder walls and valves.

Both valves must be closed and the piston is placed at the top of the cylinder to confine the oxygen in the combustion chamber.

If compressed air is at hand after burning the carbon out, the engine is turned over until the exhaust valve is open, and a jet of air introduced into the cylinder to blow all loose particles of carbon which will prevent it from proper seating, and so impair the compression.

Motometer Tells Us of Cooling System

Do not be alarmed if the motometer seems to register a higher radiator temperature after you have filled up the cooling system with water.

It makes a difference in the reading whether the water or just the water vapor comes in contact with the stem of the thermometer. If actual contact of the water makes enough change in the reading of the motometer to lead you to assume that the motor is running hotter than usual, it is best to drain off a little water. Perhaps when the excess of water is drained off the motometer will still register higher than usual—an indication that the other causes apply.

Awarded Patent by U. S. on Balloon Tire Idea

Alden L. Putnam of Lansing, Mich., recently awarded a patent on the balloon tire by the United States patent office. Application for the patent was filed by Putnam in August.

Alden L. Putnam.

1920. While a member of the motor transport board during the war he built special tires to make riding easier. This was the development of the balloon tire idea.

Economy on the Part of the Car Owner Is Urged

Automobile owners must practice gasoline economy. Never before in the history of the motor vehicle has there been a more urgent need for conservation along this line.

This is the warning being broadcast to the nation's 17,000,000 motorists by Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, who sees in economy the chief weapon in the motorist's hand to combat the soaring price of gasoline.

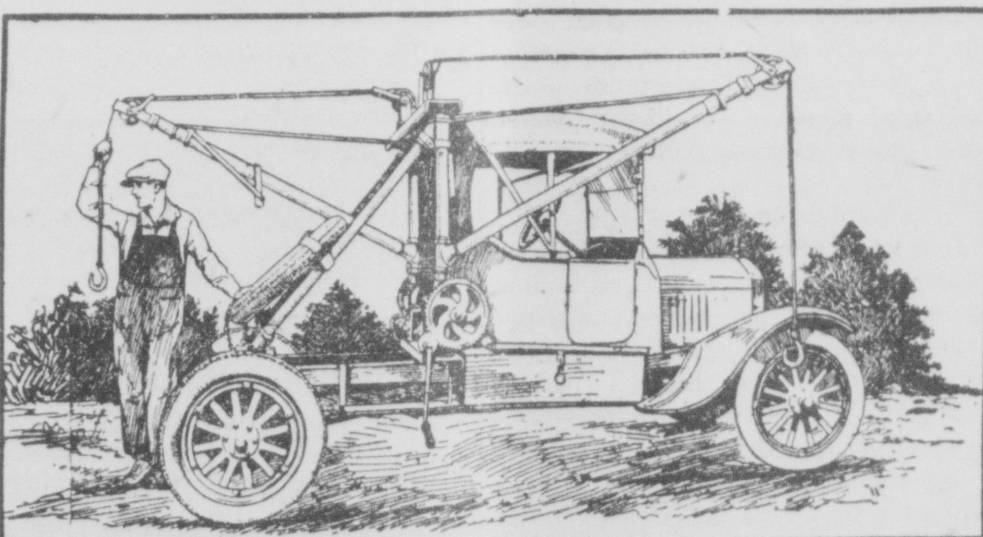

Whether the contention of oil interests that the natural oil supply is fast diminishing is founded on fact, or whether such information is merely a covering statement to justify higher prices, the car owner stands to lose in either case, according to Mr. Henry, unless he makes every gallon of gas give greater results.

"Economy on the part of the car owner," Mr. Henry states, "will solve the problem. If natural supplies are diminishing, economy will serve its obvious purpose. If scarcity is but a trade tactic, then conservation will help hold down the price to the consumer."

Balloon Problem Met

The main trouble experienced by owners who have installed balloon tires on their cars is that there has been entirely too much bobbing action. Many of the excellent spring control devices have been unable to check this successfully, even on some of the new cars which have not been especially designed for balloons. Though you will still need your spring control device, the excess bobbing can be done away with by taking a few leaves out of the springs. You will note on cars especially designed for balloons that there are fewer spring leaves, as a rule.

SWINGING BOOMS ON SERVICE CAR HELP

Service Car Equipped With Two Swinging Booms Made of Heavy Pipe Is Found Useful for Lifting Heavy Cars Up Embankments as Well as for Towing Purposes.

By mounting two swinging booms, made of heavy pipe and fittings, on the chassis of a light automobile made over into a service car, an Alabama dealer increased its usefulness considerably. The two booms are fastened together at the rear with two cross members of iron. Recently the car was sent out for a one-ton truck loaded with lumber, which had gone over a 20-foot embankment. The truck was pulled up without unloading it. This was done by swinging the two booms at right angles to the car, anchoring one to a tree on the side of the road opposite the wreck, while the other boom was used in pulling up the truck.—Archie Richardson, Decatur, Ga., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Orange Blossoms

The orange is said to indicate a hope of fruitfulness, and the white blossoms, like the rest of the white of the bridal costume, are symbolical of innocence. Orange blossoms as a bridal decoration were introduced in the United States and England about 1820. The custom was of older standing elsewhere.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

To Re-Erect Temple

A temple on the Acropolis of Selinus in Italy is to be re-erected. Originally it was 230 feet long by 85 feet wide. Six columns decorated the front, 18 the side. This particular temple occupied the most prominent place on the Acropolis. To whom it was dedicated is not known.

The hardest test comes, not in making money but in keeping it.

GRAIN MARKETCompany Quits Business Year
After Its Start.

Chicago, July 28.—Today, first anniversary of the active launching of the Grain Marketing Co., $26,000,000 co-operative marketing project, found the concern officially dissolved and in active process of liquidation. It was today the company was to have made a $4,000,000 settlement with four old line grain companies which merged to form the Co-operative.

Instead the four vendors companies have had their properties returned to them while assets are being distributed among the farmer stockholders. It has been announced, however, that many farmers are holding their stock in the hope some modified form of co-operative marketing will be worked out by the company, which expects to continue as an organization.

Birds Faster Than Trains

Wild birds are capable of attaining great speed in flight. There is on record a swallow that traveled at the rate of 106 miles an hour, and a homing pigeon commonly will go more than 60 miles an hour, it is said. Even a pelican has been known to make 50 miles an hour and a wild duck has been credited with 59 miles an hour.

AMUSEMENTS

One of the most thrilling love stories ever written is brought to the screen at the Met theater, where "His Hour" the Metro-Goldwyn picturization of the Elinor Glyn story is being shown.

A young English widow, Tamara Lorraine meets Griazko, a Russian prince. She is prim and conventional due to the fact that she has been reared as one of the English aristocracy and her emotions are hidden far beneath a frigid exterior. Griazko,
on the other hand, is wild, impulsive
handsome and the most beloved man in all Russia. Tamara is attracted to him, but resolves not to fall under his spell as every other woman has. She intrigues him by her distant charm,
which is different from anything he has ever before encountered.

By her pronounced aloofness she spurs him to deeds of deviltry. She openly dislikes him, but is really hypnotized by the brilliant fascinating prince.

The affair reaches a climax and a declaration of love is forced from the lips of the proud Tamara.

Aileen Pringle plays the leading feminine role while John Gilbert is cast as the prince. They both hold by their dynamic personalities and Elinor Glyn in choosing them as her ideal lovers made a selection which which should be generally popular.

King Vidor directed and brought out realism and richness. The production was presented by Louis B.
Mayer.

Whereas a great leader of American thought and action has been called to his eternal reward, William Jennings Bryan has for more than thirty years stamped his personality upon the political, moral and religious life of our people and it seems fitting that we should, by public utterance, show that his tireless efforts, to advance the standards of morality and to promote the cause of Christianity by word and example, are appreciated, and has left its impress upon our civilization and our faith that his works will live after him; Now,

Therefore be it Resolved, That all citizens meet together in a Memorial service that will be held at the Me-

PICKAWAY COUNTY FARMERS TO HAVE BIG DAY, AUGUST 12

Governor Donahey, Governor Gore And Ex-Governor Lowden Will Be Here on Livestock Day—Pennsylvania Railroad Is Cooperating And Famous Musical Organization Will Be Here—Big Barbecue at Noon.

The board of directors of the Pick-away County Livestock Cooperative association met Saturday evening, July 25, with a committee from the Farm bureau, chamber of commerce and Pennsylvania Railroad system to arrange and work out details for the big livestock day in Circleville, on Wednesday, August 12.

The new livestock yards are fast assuming a metropolitan stockyard appearance. Manager Briggs and Pennsylvania Agent Hilyard are having a large force of men at work and will continue until the end of the big day. Many carloads of cinders are being supplied and properly spread.
Additional stock pens are being built,
scores of gates made and hung connecting various pens and grading alleys, pens whitewashed and buildings painted.

A valuable addition to the business interests of Circleville is under construction and when finally completed will be second to none in the state for convenience and utility.

Plans for the big opening day include receipt, proper grading, selling and loading for shipment of from 500 to 800 head of Pickaway county livestock and the receipt and sale of stock cattle and a load of feeder sheep.

A real up-to-date barbecue lunch at noon will be served. After lunch, under a big Chautauqua tent, a program seldom before equalled in Cirleville will be held. Tentative assurance of the presence of Governor Howard W. Gore, of West Virginia, former secretary of agriculture, is given our committee. Governor Vic Donahey will be present some time during the day, enroute to or from the Field day at Five Points.

The principal speaker of the afternoon on "Cooperative Marketing" will be either former Governor Frank Lowden, of Illinois, or Hon. Edward T. Meredith, of Iowa, who is a past secretary of agriculture. The National Livestock Producers' association, whose central office is in Chicago, will be well represented and every State Cooperative Marketing organization as well as various terminal marketing offices will be represented by large delegations.

The Pittsburgh Producers selling agency to which market Pickaway county is largely tributary will be transferred in its entirety to our county for this day and we will be given an opportunity of seeing our selling agency in full operation.

The Pennsylvania railroad, which by the way is just as proud of the new stock yards as are the live stock men, will have representatives present from every department of this great railroad system. Russell G.
East, of Shelbyville, Indiana, agricultural agent for the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system, Earl Hilyard, Circleville agent and John French, Atlanta agent, are assisting in every way to make the meeting a success.
The Famous Pennsylvania Railroad
Musical organization from the Pittsburgh office will be present and furnish musical entertainment.

Everything will be conveniently arranged; plenty tent space; good drinking water and everything for the comfort of everyone. The city folk as well as country folk are invited to be present on this day and contribute to its success.

A reasonable charge will be made for the barbecue, aside from this everything is free.

A reception committee will be on hand all day to see that you are well received and well entertained. A special reception committee of Pick-away county farm ladies will be in evidence.

How does this sound to be a hungry man?

Three hundred dozen Pickaway county roasting ears, one barrel pickles, 50 pounds of coffee, 10 gallons of cream, 50 pounds of sugar, 500 loaves of bread, 10 sacks of salt and six pounds of pepper with 1980 choicest cuts of Pickaway county corn fed baby beef.

This is what will be consumed at the big live stock day luncheon at the Pickaway County Stock yards, Wednesday, August 12.

The beef will be barbecued by an expert barbecue caterer. Preparations will be commenced early Tuesday morning, August 11, when trenches will be constructed near the stock yards, filled with 1000 pounds of charcoal and supplied with several cords of wood. It will require 24 hours cooking to properly transform the beef quarters into appetizing morsels. Several large tents will be supplied and over night south Circleville will spring into a tented city and

HOME AND MOTHER.

According to the Hebrew press of New York and other Hebrew districts, the American is the finest type of Anglo-Saxon outside the House of Lords and the Broadway wholesale reservation; and he proves it by his passionate devotion to the trilogy, Home, Mother and the Public School,
for any and all of which he will freely
lay down his life, before the fall election. In this age of divorce, home may be uncertain and the public school a non-essential, but mother is a dead sure thing—you can bank on mother.

It is the boast of the Anglo-Saxon,
and the ultimate test of his superiority, that he has the word "home" in his language. Only the grand old Anglo-Saxon race sings doleful ditties
about "Home and Mother,"
"Home and Country" "England, 'Ome and Beauty." "What Is Home Without a Boarder" and so on. It is possible the debased and inferior alien may have a home with a mother, a boarder, or other domestic impediment around his premises; but lacking the fine poetic instincts of the Anglo-Saxon he fails to put these things into his ballads, hand organs and noise instruments.

We always love the unattainable
and worship the illusive.

The American loves to go back—in his dreams—to the dear old farm among the hills, where he and crab-apples and dyspepsia were raised in days of yore; where he passed his happy, care-free childhood's years with mother, wearing blue denim overalls and working eighteen hours a day. Oh! dear, dead, halcyon days, when he and mother ran the farm,
while his stern and Puritan father ran the republic from the top of a cracker barrel in the village grocery.

The memories of his chores and chas-
tisements are still sacred and tender;
he will not disturb them; he hugs his illusions, and he will not go back even to sleep with his fathers. Israel looked forward to the post-mortem pleasures of sleeping with its fathers;
the American does not; the divorce and nomadic habits of the Anglo-Saxon father make him difficult to assemble; and the American hates to be crowded, anyhow.

Judging by habit and result, the ambition of the average American is to accumulate money enough to enable him to be perennially homeless and permanently nomadic; he is always on the move; autos, sleepers and liners are his habitats. St. Vitus is his patron saint; and the more time and energy he devotes to divorcing himself from home and country the more sentimental and lachrymose he grows about both.

Travel is not designed to give the American rest and change; its purpose is educational and to make him feel happy and at home in a flat as commodious as a steamer cabin and as comfortable as a Pullman berth.
When he gets back to the flat he may miss the violence of the Atlantic, but he has the truculence of the janitor;
and tho he lack the service and servility of the porter he has all the comforts of home, including a cat and kitchenette. If he only have mother in the flat—preferably wife's (— the American domestic idyl, Home and Mother, is complete, and he is on the joyous road to divorce and alimony.—

Stage Has Real Dramas

Sir Henry Irving and Edmund Kean,
the latter among the greatest of Shakespearean actors, died while actually playing roles on the stage.
Irving was appearing in "Becket" and although the great tragedian managed to stumble into the wing, he passed away at his hotel shortly after, without having recovered consciousness.
Kean was playing "Othello" and had just uttered the famous "Farewell" when he sank to the floor.

Origin of Chapels

The word chapel comes from cape,
a chest. The word was originally applied to the chest in which the relics of a saint were deposited, afterwards to the apartment in a church or cathedral in which the chest was kept.
These chapels were dedicated separately, but were known by the name of the saint whose relics they contained.

Story of the Built-Well Home

Chapter IV

After a lapse of more than 100 years the house owned by Jos. B. Mc-Crutcheon, of Winnegance, Me., is being re-shingled. Many of the old shingles are still in good condition and Mr McCrutcheon found that they had been nailed on with hand made nails which were almost as good as new.

The above is a news item taken from the Fowler Review of July 3, 1924.

The Built-Well Home is being roofed with genuine Creo-Dipt Cedar shingles nailed in place with zinc-coated rust-proof nails. These shingles are clear of all defects, sawed vertical grain and treated with the best wood pre-servatives known. This treatment not only adds durability to the roof but adds beauty to the home by the rich brown color thus obtained.

The Creo-Dipt Company are the pioneers in the manufacture of stained shingles and for many years their shingles have been growing in favor with architects and home builders.

Not only are Creo-Dipt Shingles applied to the Built-Well Home for their durability and beauty but also for their insulating value. No roofing has yet been manufactured that so thoroly resists heat and cold as the wood shingle.

Dressed in the beautiful Cedar hat, the Built Well Home must have a Cedar coat as well, and, as this wood will stand weather exposure better than other, Cedar Weather-boarding is being used.

This is the same specie of Cedar as that taken from the forests of Lebanon by the wise King Solomon for the building of the Temple. Future generations will look at the Built-Well Home as it stands un-marred by time and refer to its builder as one who built wisely in the year A. D. 1925.

Creo-Dipt Shingles may be obtained from the

Prevent Cows From Eating Garlic Tops

Disagreeable Flavor and Odor Spread Quickly.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One minute after garlic is eaten by a cow the disagreeable flavor and odor of this pungent plant may be detected in the milk. This is one of the facts brought out in an investigation carried on by the bureau of dairying, United States Department of Agriculture, and reported in Department Bulletin 1326, Effect of Garlic on the Flavor of Milk, by C. J. Babcock. The only practical way to prevent the appearance of this flavor and odor in milk in regions where the weed infests pastures is to keep the cows from eating the plant.

In the tests, which were made by giving to several persons samples of milk from cows milked at different periods after having been fed garlic and from check cows, it was found that the intensity of the bad flavor and odor increased until it reached a maximum at ten minutes after feeding the odorous ration. Bad flavor and odor were present to an objectionable degree when the cows ate one-half pound of garlic tops four hours before milking. As the time between the eating of the garlic and milking time increased, the bad flavor and odor diminished and in seven hours practically disappeared.

Not only were the garlic flavor and odor taken in by eating, but it was shown that inhaling garlic for ten minutes gives strong flavor and odor to the milk. Milk drawn 90 minutes after inhalation of garlic was practically free from objectionable flavors and odors.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained free, as long as the supply lasts, from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Bordeaux Mixture Spray Will Protect Potatoes

When the potato plants are six inches high, spray with bordeaux mixture. See that every part of the plant, leaves, upper and under sides of the leaves, and stems are reached with the spray to protect them from blights and rust.

This spraying is very important, as it reaches the heart of the cluster of stems and leaves—which is hardest to reach as the plant grows.

Just as important is spraying to kill insect enemies. Use one-half pound of pure paris green in 50 gallons of the bordeaux mixture. Spray with the poison just as the eggs of the Colorado beetle first show signs of hatching. Make one or two more applications of the poison three to five days apart, as required.

Spray with bordeaux at least four times. Spray every ten days or two weeks until the potato tops get large enough to meet in the rows, or until they are as large as they ever will be. If you can't get in four sprayings ten days or two weeks apart while the plants are making this growth, spray oftener.

That is, do this if you are planting potatoes for profit. Careful tests in New Jersey show a profit of $40 an acre of potatoes by spraying, and similar results have been arrived at elsewhere. People who make a business of growing them for the market would never think of omitting the spraying. They know their business.

Trapping and Poisoning for Control of Gophers

Trapping and poisoning are methods recommended for the control of gophers, according to Fred D. Butcher, extension entomologist at Iowa State college. Traps set in runways should always be used to supplement other control measures. Special pocket gopher traps are advised.

For poisoning gophers, use a bait made by cutting sweet potatoes, carrots or parsnips into pieces about one inch long and about one-half inch in diameter. Wash and drain the pieces as soon as they are cut. Over one gallon of the bait sprinkle one-eighth of an ounce of powdered strychnine. Stir one or two pieces of bait into the gopher runways one or two feet from each mound. The runways may be located by means of a sharp stick or wagonbox endgate rod used as a probe and the bait dropped through the holes thus made. Close the holes after inserting the bait.

FARM NOTES

Spring is the best season for the planting of all kinds of nursery stock.

It is less costly to be prepared for apple scab than to be surprised by it.

Don't rely too much on your own opinion; men have been known to err.

Don't let the weeds get a start. It's worse than a large handicap in a foot race. Sharpen the hoes and start from the same mark.

An incubator room that can maintain a temperature ranging between 60 and 70 degrees F. will increase the efficiency of the incubator.

Two-thirds of the seed corn sent to the New Jersey College of Agriculture for test has been found unfit to be used for planting. Play safe and have yours tested.

Music Is Developing American Manhood

On my gal don't love me any-more — On my gal don't love me any-more

Boys' Camp Director Ranks Melody With Athletics As Educational Influence

Music and out-door sports are the headline pastimes of American youth, says Paul Pearse, owner of Camp Ha Wa Ya for boys in Harrison, Maine, and one of the most famous directors of boys' activities in the country.

"Music is more than half of camp life and as important as athletics in the development of American manhood," asserts Mr. Pearse. "At our camp, we have a pianist to play between courses at meals, so much a part of our schedule do we make music."

Camp Song

"I do not need to emphasize the place the camp song occupies in the affections of our lads. Everybody who has ever visited a camp and heard the boys shout lustily the strains of their favorite popular piece, can testify to the song loves of youngsters. They make up their own verses, which encourages originality and ingenuity. Two years ago they sang 'Yes, We Have No Bananas,' with infinite parodies. Last year, it was 'It Ain't Gonna Rain No More,' and this year it is 'My Gal Don't Love Me Any More,' which abounds in possibilities for impromptu verses.

Simple Tunes

"All of these songs have the simplest kind of tune but one that you remember the first time you hear it and find yourself whistling in the bath tub.

"It's good for hikes, too, with a marching rhythm. Do you know that we use as much care in selecting a song leader as we do in choosing a competent equestrian director, or nature teacher or tennis instructor? Music is getting to be a real part of the modern boy's education and it's my belief he is going to turn out something good in the way of composition some of these days as a result."

Radio Rooster Makes Debut

"Hungry Hank," radio rooster, was starved for a week before he made his debut before the microphone of WLS, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation station, Chicago. He was supposed to have a keen appetite. It was decided to give the WLS listeners an opportunity to participate in a unique contest, guessing the number of kernels the radio rooster would devour. "Hungry Hank" started off with a flourish and by the way he began it was thought he would break all corn-eating records, but he got stage fright before he had consumed a dozen, and when he refused to eat any more, it was found that his record was only 29 kernels. "Hungry Hank" was given to the radio fan who guessed closest to the number. That WLS listener was James P. Walsh of Streator, Ill. who guessed exactly 29 and won the prize.

Pleasant Prospect

"Well, how's trade?" inquired an old merchant of a young man who had just been taken into partnership with his father. "Very good," replied the young man. "I think father will soon be earning enough so I can retire."

Small Request

Little girl (watching painter in art museum copying a masterpiece)—Will you please give me the old one when your new one is finished?—Boston Transcript.

Founder Guillotined

Lavoisier, the founder of modern chemistry, was in 1794 sentenced to death and guillotined by the Revolutionary tribunal because he had, under the king, held the post of farmer general of the revenue.

Punished for Pugnacity

Thomas Mowbray, duke of Norfolk, was banished from England by Richard I, in 1198, for challenging and preparing to meet in single combat Henry Bolingbroke, earl of Hereford, afterward King Henry IV.

PROMINENT SANDUSKY MEN UNDER ARREST

Probate Judge Tannev and Several Others are in the Toils of the Law.

Toledo, O., July 30, (UP).—Five
prominent citizens of Sandusky, including Probate Judge John E. Tan-
ney, were at liberty on bond today,
following their arrest and arraign-
ment on charges of violating the prohibition act.

Those arrested, besides Judge Tan-
ney, were:

Russell Keller, Sandusky, undertaker, charged with possession, sale
and conspiracy.

Harvey Andrews, Elyria, possession, sale and manufacture.

Lee Ames, Sand Beach, possession,
sale and conspiracy.

John Lickey, possession, sale and
conspiracy.

The men were arraigned late Wednesday before United States Commissioner Gaines. All entered pleas of not guilty.

Tony Snyder, Sand Beach lunch
room owner, will be arraigned today
and jointly charged with Ames.

United States Marshal George
Weeks arrested Tanney while the latter was in his court room.

Judge Tanney denied charges contained in a warrant read to him.

Weeks said the arrests resulted
from a sweeping inquiry and were brought about by prohibition agents
"planted" in the vacation throngs in
the Sandusky district.

The charges against Judge Tanney,
it was understood, grew out of an alleged offer to sell a quantity of liquor
to dry officers. The alleged offer, officials said, was made some time ago
when Judge Tanney and Keller were dining with prohibition agents.

The agents, according to Weeks,
said Tanney and Keller not only provided drinks for the occasion but
made several enticing offers.

FARM BUREAU FEDERATION FIGHTING

OHIO UTILITIES COMPANIES CUT IN TAX DUPLICATES

If Pipe Lines Win, Estimates Reveal, That Success of Efforts Now Underway, Will Cost the State More Than $400,000 a Year in Utilities Taxes.

Attempts of a score of Ohio utilities companies to reduce their tax duplicates approximately $400,000 are to be fought by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Ohio State grange, it was indicated Wednesday.

C. A. Dyer, legislative agent for both organizations, will direct the fight. Estimates revealed that success of efforts now under way will cost the state more than $400,000 a year in utilities taxes.

The present move is expected to be made against the Buckeye Pipe Line company, in suits now pending in county courts in Ohio, seeking to enjoin collection of taxes on full value of their property. More than a dozen other utilities companies, however, either have taken such action or contemplate similar moves to lower their taxes.

The drive to cut taxes by utilities companies has been under way in Ohio since 1920, with continuous success by the companies. The Buckeye Pipe Line Co., in 1920 filed suits in 35 Ohio county courts to block collection of taxes at the valuation carried on the tax duplicates.

The company contended its property was assessed at its full value while that of other concerns in the same district was assessed at part of its actual value.

The state tax commission then called a meeting of the county officials in involved in an attempt to organize a concerted fight against this move by the utilities company. This failed and left the counties fighting alone.

The suits then were compromised with the individual counties, the company paying an average of slightly more than 50 per cent of the taxes it originally had been assessed. In the light of this success, the company the following year brought similar results except for some of the 1924 suits, which are still pending.

A federal court decision, and a decision in the Montgomery county courts favored the company. The Montgomery county case was that of the Dayton Street Railway company, which was successful in having 40 per cent of its property value stricken off the tax duplicates on the ground that it was taxed on its full value while other companies in Montgomery county paid taxes on only 60 per cent of actual valuation.

Following this, other Ohio companies, including the Ohio Public Service company and a score of utilities concern throughout the state adopted similar tactics and succeeded largely.

Records show that Franklin county settled with the Buckeye Pipe company for 60 per cent of its taxes in 1922 and with the Ohio Public Service company for 60 per cent of the taxes charged to it, and that on this compromise suits enjoining collection were dropped.

Members of the tax commission admitted being approached this week with suggestions that they join in a fight against this practice. They indicated, however, that they will fight only in cases where the companies say tax valuations made by the commission on utilities property is too high. County officials will be left virtually alone in the fight unless the two farm organizations are able to obtain state aid, apparently.

county officials individually, members of the commission said. The bill was defeated in the house, however, by a combination of farm and utility interests, the former believing it was a scheme to favor utilities corporations. The issue also is to be brought before the governor and the attorney general, it was said, and appeals will be made to enlist their aid in the fight.

LAW AGAINST POLLUTION OF OUR STREAMS

State Director of Health Made Exhaustive Survey of Eastern Plants.

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—The state department of health will soon begin enforcing provisions of the Edwards law prohibiting the pollution of streams, Dr. John E. Monger, state health director, declared today.

Dr. Monger, with W. H. Dittoe, state sanitary engineer, has just returned from a two weeks' survey of eastern plants to determine the best systems for use.

Ohio industries and cities will spend $25,000,000 during the next five years, carrying out the program under supervision of the state.

Dr. Monger said it was agreed the system now in use thru Boston is the best and most economical.

SAND DISPELS CLOUDS

Dr. E. Francis Warren of Harvard university believes he will be able to "shoot down" the heaviest of clouds and fogs by his new invention as demonstrated recently at Bolling field, Washington, by army flyers. The process uses sand and he states that if enough airplanes are equipped with his device, it will not only be possible to break up clouds and cause rain but to remove fogs from over cities and harbors. The picture shows Lieut. W. E. Melville pouring the sand into the pit; directly beneath the wing can be seen a nozzle that sprays the sand through the air.

Toledo, O., July 29, (UP)—Clerks at the Trenton state bank, Trenton, Michigan, have failed to identify Frank Urbaytis, Toledoan, as one of six bandits who held up the bank on January 12 and shot and killed an assistant. Urbaytis is held at Columbus for the alleged robbery of a grocery store.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Answer and Cross Petition.

In the divorce suit of Mary De-Carlo against Nick De Carlo which was recently filed in the probate court, the defendant has filed an answer and cross petition. The cross petition alleges that there is a man in the case and that the plaintiff is trying to get rid of her spouse as she loves another, Arro Carpenter, a farm hand.

He also denies that he is guilty of gross neglect and claims that he was ill and unable to work, that he had hired the man, Arro Carpenter, to assist him on the farm and that his wife spent too much of her time in his farm hand's company and took rides with him often in defendant's automobile. He claims that he and the defendant have $1,500 in the Grove City National bank, that he spent $336 on repairing their home and $400 invested in a Ford automobile. He asks the court for a restraining order to protect his interests and from disposing of the automobile and furniture. A temporary restraining order was granted by Judge Adkins. I. H. Ruth, of Columbus, represents the plaintiff.

Tokyo.—The deaths of 33,000 persons at the army clothing depot in the quake-flee of 1923 were caused by poison gas, according to a report of the great seismic visitation now in the hands of the seismic disaster prevention commission.

The commission consists of forty well-known scientists and experts. The commission is of the opinion that a great many of the earthquake victims, who were believed to have been burned to death in reality were killed by carbon monoxide gas and escaped the horror of being roasted alive.

BRYAN MEMORIAL.

A memorial meeting for the late Hon. W. J. Bryan will be given Sunday morning at 10:15 o'clock at the Lutheran church by Rev. G. J. Troutman.

ILLINOIS MAN INQUIRES OF BRYAN DEATH

Lincoln, Neb., July 29 (UP).—Mayor F. C. Zehrung, of Lincoln, today received a letter from a resident of Area, Illinois, and formerly of Nebraska, asking verification of the death of William Jennings Bryan.

The letter read:

"I heard amongst the conversations this morning that William J. Bryan is dead. I would appreciate very much if I could obtain that information from you. If the story of death is true, kindly write and let me know at what place his death occurred."

COMMISSION TO APPROVE CONTRACTS

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—Four members of the legislative advisory committee must approve contracts made by the state building commission, Attorney General Crabbe ruled today.

Crabbe also held that the committee has no authority to expend state funds to hire appraisal boards or engineers to pass upon proposed building sites except within the limits of a $3,000 appropriation made for the committee.

STATE CLAIMS ITS SHARE OF LIQUOR FINES

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—The suits to recover $300,000 the state claims is due as its share of liquor law fines collected in various cities, will be filed in September, Attorney General Crabbe has announced.

The suits will be to recover findings made by state examiners against officials who have failed to remit to the state treasury the proceeds claimed by the state.

Misses Ruth Dresbach and Pauline Neff were visitors in Columbus today.

OHIO DISTRICT CONVENTION OF KIWANIS

Dayton, O., July 30, (UP).—An endless variety of features will mark the eighth annual convention of the Ohio district of Kiwanis International, to be held here September 15-17, according to announcement made by H. B. Ohmer, chairman of the local entertainment committee.

There are ninety-six clubs in the state with a membership of approximately ten thousand.

A special trip thru the National Cash Register Co., the "model factory of the world," is being planned. A flying circus will be one of the chief features of the convention.

LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Sarah Mangues Died at Home and Hospital—Funeral Saturday.

Mrs. Sarah Mangues died Wednesday evening at the Home and Hospital, following an illness of eight months.

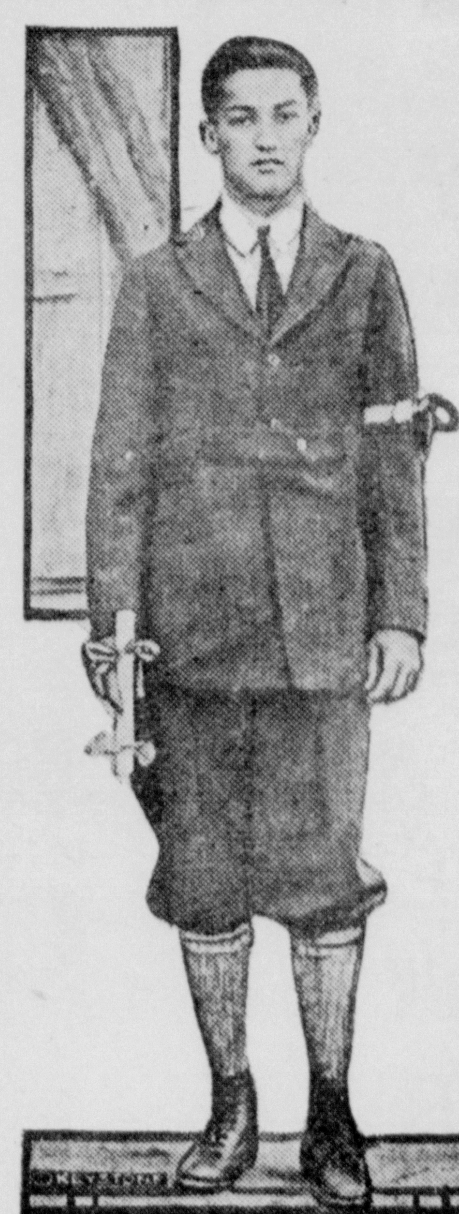

The deceased was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, June 23, 1845, and was a daughter of Eric and Mary Ann Shaw McManngues. She came to this county with her parents at the age of six years.

She was married to Emanuel Mangues in 1865, who died in 1910. Her husband was a Civil war veteran being a member of Company F, 90th regiment, O. V. I.

The deceased was a member of the United Brethren church.

Funeral services will be held at the Home and Hospital Saturday. Interment in Reber Hill cemetery.

ALONE IN HIS GLORY

DIED IN PARK AFTER PLAY WITH NIECE

Hough Brady Succumbs While Talking to Friend—Father Killed in Same Place.

Hugh Brady, 38, of 334 Buttles avenue, Columbus, a painter employed at the new Neil house, died suddenly Wednesday night on a bench in Goodale park, while conversing with a friend.

Brady's death came shortly after he had eaten his evening meal and had played with his niece, Rita Mohn, of the same address.

He went for a walk in the park, met a friend and they sat down. They were not there long, when Brady told his friend he was smothering and asked him to unbutton his collar. After the collar was opened Brady gasped, then died.

Brady's father was killed about 18 years ago in Goodale park when he was run down by a horse and buggy.

He is survived by two brothers, James A., and Thomas Brady, and two sisters, Mrs. James Callahan and Mrs. Daniel Mohn with whom he made his home.

He was a member of the painter's union.

The deceased was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Thomas Brady, formerly of this city.

YEAR'S WORK OF SALT CREEK SEWING CLUB

The ninth meeting of the Saltcreek Clothing club was held at the school building with eleven members and one visitor present. Most of the year's work was completed by the first and second year girls and some time was spent in reviewing the work and in team and individual demonstrations. The last meeting will be held, July 31, when all the work will be brought and will be scored by the girls.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT MAKES REPORT

Columbus, O., July 29, (UP)—Occupational diseases took a total of more than 400 women during a five year period ending this month, Dr. D. J. Kindel, chief of the industrial hygiene division of the state department of health, announced.

A total of 3242 cases were reported. The ratio of women sufferers was eleven to one. Skin diseases were the most prevalent, he said.

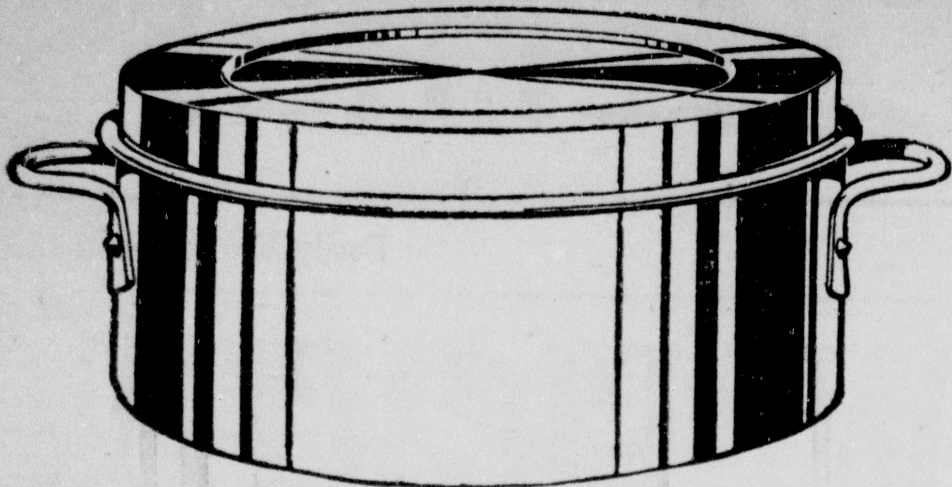

MAYOR'S COURT

Charles H. Kirkpatrick, who was placed under arrest Wednesday on the charge of rape, preferred by Stephen Van Buskirk, and released on a bond of $1,000 for his appearance in police court this morning, appeared and waived examination and was bonded over to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000 which he furnished and was released from custody.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for August 2

THE EPISTLE OF JAMES

LESSON TEXT—Jas. 1:19-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only."—Jas. 1:22.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving and obeying.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Be Ye Doers of the Word.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Doers of the Word.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Religion According to James.

The book of James was written to Jewish Christians scattered abroad who were passing through sore trials and persecutions. The pre-eminent aim was to show these humble believers how to live in such trying times. James recognized the difficulties of Christian living resulting from the attitude of the unbelieving Jews, and knew also the added difficulties of pride, jealousy and cowardly compromises which might spring up within. He showed that all these must be met with the realities which inhere in the religion of Jesus Christ.

1. Receiving the Engranted Word (vv. 19-21).

1. What Is the Engranted Word? "Engranted" means implanted. In verse 18 he speaks of having been begotten by the Word. The figure is that of a planting of the seeds of truth. The Christian doctrines as contained in the Word, when quickened by the Holy Spirit result in regeneration. The divine method of regeneration is the preaching of God's word made living and active by the Holy Spirit.

2. How the Word Is Received (v. 19).

(1) "Be swift to hear." This means to be ready and eager to use every opportunity to get acquainted with God's word.

Obedience to this injunction will make one diligent in the reading of the Bible, and in attendance at the church services where the Word of God is being taught.

(2) "Slow to speak." From what follows we infer that this refers to religious controversies. It means that whether in the places of worship or in whatever circumstances, we should give respect and thoughtful attention to what our Christian brethren are saying.

(3) "Slow to wrath." Heated discussions sometimes develop in our conferences, even when we gather to consider the doctrines of God's word. Sometimes one may even fancy that anger is justifiable. In such cases we should remember the injunction, be slow to wrath.

3. The Reason for Receiving the Word (vv. 20-21).

"The wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God." Angry debating among Christians never helped to make known God's righteousness. Man's anger springs out of the fountain of his depravity. Therefore its expression can only have a blighting effect upon those who listen, and even upon the speaker in its reaction upon him.

II. Coming Into Self-Knowledge (vv. 22-25).

Receiving the engranted Word through swiftiness to hear, and obeying its holy precepts will result in that experimental knowledge of one's self which brings true blessings. By "doers of the Word," is meant those who make obedience their habitual attitude.

The truths of God's word will permeate their very life and be expressed in everything they do and say. Those who hear and do not obey are self-deceived. Those who go through the form of religion without coming under its power are likened to men who gaze into the mirror beholding the natural face, and then go away and forget how they look.

III. Pure Religion (vv. 26-27).

This means that those who have become doers of the Word will in their outer lives manifest the following traits:

1. Bridling the Tongue (v. 26).

This means that they will speak with discretion. God gave man two ears and but one tongue. The ears are exposed, but the tongue is walled in by the teeth. Just as the tongue reveals the condition of the physical system, so the use of the tongue reveals the religious condition.

2. Sympathizing With and Helping Those in Need (v. 27).

The widow and orphan are the symbols of helplessness and need. Those who have true pity will visit such and render the necessary aid.

3. Keeping Himself Unspotted From the World (v. 27).

The one who has the true life will separate himself from the world.

GOOD MANNERS IN MOTORING

Connecticut Commissioner Stoeckel Sees Need of Code of Ethics.

That the present lack of good manners in motoring calls for a code of ethics to be observed by automobile drivers, is the belief of Robbins B. Stoeckel, commissioner of the Connecticut state department of motor vehicles, whose views on this subject are being sent to the country-wide membership of the National Safety Council. Mr. Stoeckel's suggestions are intended to impress motorists with the importance of courtesy to fellow drivers and pedestrians alike. His advice should not only help to prevent accidents but should keep some motor operators out of trouble.

Importance of Courtesy.

"To be a good driver, in the terms of applied ethics, is to be a person of good manners, truly an altruist, ready to see and appreciate the problems of others, to make proper allowances for them and to exercise even a little more patience, care and consideration than is actually called for by the letter of the law," declares Commissioner Stoeckel's bulletin.

Pointing out that there are certain actions which are so obviously bad manners that it becomes a source of wonder how any person can bring himself to commit one of them, Mr. Stoeckel cites examples, such as:

Driving an automobile through water or mud so as to splash same upon pedestrians, a common pastime with some motorists who have peculiar ideas of what constitutes a joke.

Failing to give proper warning to a pedestrian or other user of a highway. Even animals should receive reasonable notice.

Neglecting to give proper attention to headlights, thus often causing inconvenience and danger to others.

Disobeying the instructions received from traffic officers and trying to steal a few feet of space, instead of remaining in the proper spot, a practice that not only annoys pedestrians and other motorists—but which is dangerous.

Starting an argument with the traffic officer is not only bad etiquette but is courting trouble with the law.

The expert driver must tone down his skill by not swiftly weaving in and out of a moderately moving stream of traffic.

A common offense against road etiquette is committed when a motor car operator places his car at a crossing so as to obstruct pedestrian traffic, thus compelling pedestrians to walk around his machine.

Exercise of Kindness.

In conclusion, Commissioner Stoeckel says:

"The exercise of kindness to others, consideration and true courtesy will prevent any operator from getting a wrong attitude of mind for driving in traffic. Any operator who loses his temper, who becomes sulky, or is abnormal from any one of many different causes is unfit to drive because his automobile provides a medium of expression for his personality. If that personality is upset, he is bound to make trouble for himself or for others generally for both."

To Remove Carbon From Cylinder of Gas Engine

Auto owners who wish to remove carbon from the gas engine cylinder by means of an oxygen flame may do so without injuring the mechanism if the following precautions are taken:

The radiator must be filled with water in order to keep water around the cylinder walls and valves.

Both valves must be closed and the piston is placed at the top of the cylinder to confine the oxygen in the combustion chamber.

If compressed air is at hand after burning the carbon out, the engine is turned over until the exhaust valve is open, and a jet of air introduced into the cylinder to blow all loose particles of carbon which will prevent it from proper seating, and so impair the compression.

Motometer Tells Us of Cooling System

Do not be alarmed if the motometer seems to register a higher radiator temperature after you have filled up the cooling system with water.

It makes a difference in the reading whether the water or just the water vapor comes in contact with the stem of the thermometer. If actual contact of the water makes enough change in the reading of the motometer to lead you to assume that the motor is running hotter than usual, it is best to drain off a little water. Perhaps when the excess of water is drained off the motometer will still register higher than usual—an indication that the other causes apply.

Awarded Patent by U. S. on Balloon Tire Idea

Alden L. Putnam of Lansing, Mich., recently awarded a patent on the balloon tire by the United States patent office. Application for the patent was filed by Putnam in August.

Alden L. Putnam.

1920. While a member of the motor transport board during the war he built special tires to make riding easier. This was the development of the balloon tire idea.

Economy on the Part of the Car Owner Is Urged

Automobile owners must practice gasoline economy. Never before in the history of the motor vehicle has there been a more urgent need for conservation along this line.

This is the warning being broadcast to the nation's 17,000,000 motorists by Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, who sees in economy the chief weapon in the motorist's hand to combat the soaring price of gasoline.

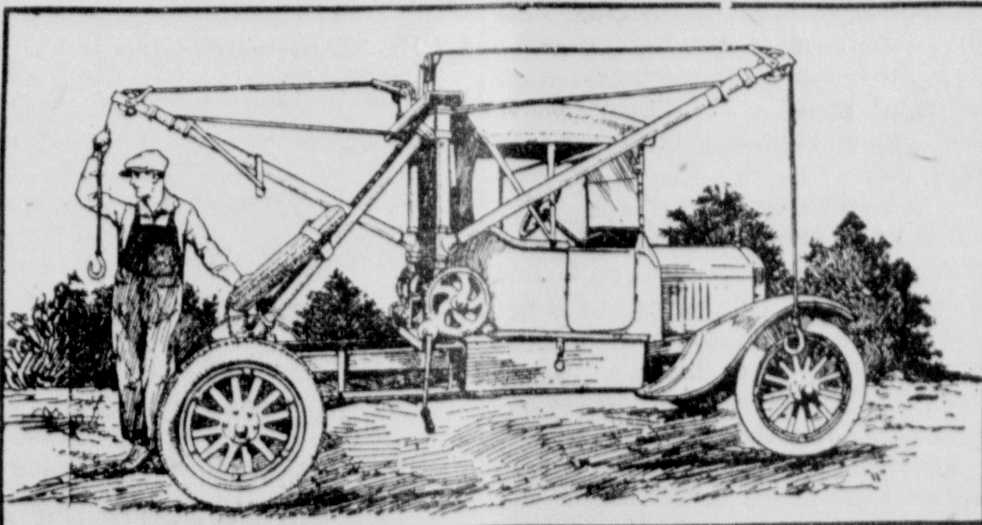

Whether the contention of oil interests that the natural oil supply is fast diminishing is founded on fact, or whether such information is merely a covering statement to justify higher prices, the car owner stands to lose in either case, according to Mr. Henry, unless he makes every gallon of gas give greater results.

"Economy on the part of the car owner," Mr. Henry states, "will solve the problem. If natural supplies are diminishing, economy will serve its obvious purpose. If scarcity is but a trade tactic, then conservation will help hold down the price to the consumer."

Balloon Problem Met

The main trouble experienced by owners who have installed balloon tires on their cars is that there has been entirely too much bobbing action. Many of the excellent spring control devices have been unable to check this successfully, even on some of the new cars which have not been especially designed for balloons. Though you will still need your spring control device, the excess bobbing can be done away with by taking a few leaves out of the springs. You will note on cars especially designed for balloons that there are fewer spring leaves, as a rule.

SWINGING BOOMS ON SERVICE CAR HELP

Service Car Equipped With Two Swinging Booms Made of Heavy Pipe Is Found Useful for Lifting Heavy Cars Up Embankments as Well as for Towing Purposes.

By mounting two swinging booms, made of heavy pipe and fittings, on the chassis of a light automobile made over into a service car, an Alabama dealer increased its usefulness considerably. The two booms are fastened together at the rear with two cross members of iron. Recently the car was sent out for a one-ton truck loaded with lumber, which had gone over a 20-foot embankment. The truck was pulled up without unloading it. This was done by swinging the two booms at right angles to the car, anchoring one to a tree on the side of the road opposite the wreck, while the other boom was used in pulling up the truck.—Archie Richardson, Decatur, Ga., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Orange Blossoms

The orange is said to indicate a hope of fruitfulness, and the white blossoms, like the rest of the white of the bridal costume, are symbolical of innocence. Orange blossoms as a bridal decoration were introduced in the United States and England about 1820. The custom was of older standing elsewhere.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

due to the fact that she has been
reared as one of the English aristocracy and her emotions are hidden
far beneath a frigid exterior. Gritsko,
on the other hand, is wild, impulsive
handsome and the most beloved man

intrigues him by her distant charm,
which is different from anything he has ever before encountered.By her pronounced aloofness she spurs him to deeds of deviltry. She openly dislikes him, but is really
hypnotized by the brilliant fasci-

MANUFACTURE OF STEEL CARS
DISCUSSION*Chance Remark Led to Formation of Mammoth Corporation.A chance phrase of Charles M.
Schwab led J. P. Morgan to consider the financing and organization of the U. S. Steel corporation, says Ida M.
Tarbell in her life of Judge Gary in the August McClure's Magazine.
Schwab was attempting to sell the Carnegie properties and had sounded out the Standard Oil interests without success. Then it happened that he was placed next to Morgan at a dinner in New York given in December of 1900."Instead of having one mill make ten twenty, or fifty products," Schwab told the financier, "the greatest economy would result from having one mill make one product and make that product continuously." Morgan assented, without interest.But when Schwab mentioned the manufacturer of steel cars, at that time a novelty, the possibility of the development of this industry caught Morgan's attention. There were a few companies in the United States, Mr.
Schwab said, who were engaged in the manufacture of bridges and other

PICKAWAY COUNTY FARMERS TO HAVE BIG DAY, AUGUST 12

Governor Donahey, Governor Gore And Ex-Governor Lowden Will Be Here on Livestock Day—Pennsylvania Railroad Is Cooperating And Famous Musical Organization Will Be Here—Big Barbecue at Noon.

The board of directors of the Pickaway County Livestock Cooperative association met Saturday evening, July 25, with a committee from the Farm bureau, chamber of commerce and Pennsylvania Railroad system to arrange and work out details for the big livestock day in Circleville, on Wednesday, August 12.

The new livestock yards are fast assuming a metropolitan stockyard appearance. Manager Briggs and Pennsylvania Agent Hilyard are having a large force of men at work and will continue until the end of the big day. Many carloads of cinders are being supplied and properly spread. Additional stock pens are being built, scores of gates made and hung connecting various pens and grading alleys, pens whitewashed and buildings painted.

A valuable addition to the business interests of Circleville is under construction and when finally completed will be second to none in the state for convenience and utility.

Plans for the big opening day include receipt, proper grading, selling and loading for shipment of from 500 to 800 head of Pickaway county livestock and the receipt and sale of stock cattle and a load of feeder sheep.

A real up-to-date barbecue lunch at noon will be served. After lunch, under a big Chautauqua tent, a program seldom before equalled in Circleville will be held. Tentative assurance of the presence of Governor Howard W. Gore, of West Virginia, former secretary of agriculture, is given our committee. Governor Vic Donahey will be present some time during the day, enroute to or from the field day at Five Points.

The principal speaker of the afternoon on "Cooperative Marketing" will be either former Governor Frank Lowden, of Illinois, or Hon. Edward T. Meredith, of Iowa, who is a past secretary of agriculture. The National Livestock Producers' association, whose central office is in Chicago, will be well represented and every State Cooperative Marketing organization as well as various terminal marketing offices will be represented by large delegations.

The Pittsburgh Producers' selling agency to which market Pickaway county is largely tributary will be transferred in its entirety to our county for this day and we will be given an opportunity of seeing our selling agency in full operation.

The Pennsylvania railroad, which by the way is just as proud of the new stock yards as are the live stock men, will have representatives present from every department of this great railroad system. Russell G. East, of Shelbyville, Indiana, agricultural agent for the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system, Earl Hilyard, Circleville agent and John French, Atlanta agent, are assisting in every way to make the meeting a success. The Famous Pennsylvania Railroad Musical organization from the Pittsburgh office will be present and furnish musical entertainment.

Everything will be conveniently arranged; plenty tent space; good drinking water and everything for the comfort of everyone. The city folk as well as country folk are invited to be present on this day and contribute to its success.

A reasonable charge will be made for the barbecue, aside from this everything is free.

A reception committee will be on hand all day to see that you are well received and well entertained. A special reception committee of Pickaway county farm ladies will be in evidence.

How does this sound to be a hungry man?

Three hundred dozen Pickaway county roasted ears, one barrel pickles, 50 pounds of coffee, 10 gallons of cream, 50 pounds of sugar, 500 loaves of bread, 10 sacks of salt and six pounds of pepper with 1980 choice cuts of Pickaway county corn fed baby beef.

This is what will be consumed at the big live stock day luncheon at the Pickaway County Stock yards, Wednesday, August 12.

The beef will be barbecued by an expert barbecue caterer. Preparations will be commenced early Tuesday morning, August 11, when trenches will be constructed near the stock yards, filled with 1000 pounds of charcoal and supplied with several cords of wood. It will require 24 hours cooking to properly transform the beef quarters into appetizing morsels. Several large tents will be supplied and over night south Circleville will spring into a tented city and work will be under way to educate, entertain and feed the vast crowd of people who will be attracted by this unique event.

HOME AND MOTHER.

According to the Hebrew press of New York and other Hebrew districts, the American is the finest type of Anglo-Saxon outside the House of Lords and the Broadway wholesale reservation; and he proves it by his passionate devotion to the trilogy, Home, Mother and the Public School, for any and all of which he will freely lay down his life, before the fall election. In this age of divorce, home may be uncertain and the public school a non-essential, but mother is a dead sure thing—you can bank on mother.

It is the boast of the Anglo-Saxon, and the ultimate test of his superiority, that he has the word "home" in his language. Only the grand old Anglo-Saxon race sings doleful ditties about "Home and Mother," "Home and Country," "England, 'Ome and Beauty." "What Is Home Without a Boarder" and so on. It is possible the debased and inferior alien may have a home with a mother, a boarder, or other domestic impediment around his premises; but lacking the fine poetic instincts of the Anglo-Saxon he fails to put these things into his ballads, hand organs and noise instruments.

We always love the unattainable and worship the illusive.

The American loves to go back—in his dreams—to the dear old farm among the hills, where he and crab-apples and dyspepsia were raised in days of yore; where he passed his happy, care-free childhood's years with mother, wearing blue denim overalls and working eighteen hours a day. Oh! dear, dead, halcyon days, when he and mother ran the farm, while his stern and Puritan father ran the republic from the top of a cracker barrel in the village grocery. The memories of his chores and chastisements are still sacred and tender; he will not disturb them; he hugs his illusions, and he will not go back even to sleep with his fathers. Israel looked forward to the post-mortem pleasures of sleeping with its fathers; the American does not; the divorce and nomadic habits of the Anglo-Saxon father make him difficult to assemble; and the American hates to be crowded, anyhow.

Judging by habit and result, the ambition of the average American is to accumulate money enough to enable him to be perennially homeless and permanently nomadic; he is always on the move; autos, sleepers and liners are his habitats. St. Vitus is his patron saint; and the more time and energy he devotes to divorcing himself from home and country the more sentimental and lachrymose he grows about both.

Travel is not designed to give the American rest and change; its purpose is educational and to make him feel happy and at home in a flat as commodious as a steamer cabin and as comfortable as a Pullman berth. When he gets back to the flat he may miss the violence of the Atlantic, but he has the truculence of the janitor; and tho he lack the service and servility of the porter he has all the comforts of home, including a cat and kitchenette. If he only have mother in the flat—preferably wife's—the American domestic idyl, Home and Mother, is complete, and he is on the joyous road to divorce and alimony.—Joseph Smith.

Stage Has Real Dramas

Sir Henry Irving and Edmund Kean, the latter among the greatest of Shakespearean actors, died while actually playing roles on the stage. Irving was appearing in "Becket" and although the great tragedian managed to stumble into the wing, he passed away at his hotel shortly after, without having recovered consciousness. Kean was playing "Othello" and had just uttered the famous "Farewell" when he sank to the floor.

Origin of Chapels

The word chapel comes from caps, a chest. The word was originally applied to the chest in which the relics of a saint were deposited, afterwards to the apartment in a church or cathedral in which the chest was kept. These chapels were dedicated separately, but were known by the name of the saint whose relics they contained.

Story of the Built-Well Home

Chapter IV

After a lapse of more than 100 years the house owned by Jos. B. McCutcheon, of Winnegance, Me., is being re-shingled. Many of the old shingles are still in good condition and Mr McCutcheon found that they had been nailed on with hand made nails which were almost as good as new.

The above is a news item taken from the Fowler Review of July 3, 1924.

The Built-Well Home is being roofed with genuine Creo-Dipt Cedar shingles nailed in place with zinc-coated rust-proof nails. These shingles are clear of all defects, sawed vertical grain and treated with the best wood preservatives known. This treatment not only adds durability to the roof but adds beauty to the home by the rich brown color thus obtained.

The Creo-Dipt Company are the pioneers in the manufacture of stained shingles and for many years their shingles have been growing in favor with architects and home builders.

Not only are Creo-Dipt Shingles applied to the Built-Well Home for their durability and beauty but also for their insulating value. No roofing has yet been manufactured that so thoroly resists heat and cold as the wood shingle.

Dressed in the beautiful Cedar hat, the Built Well Home must have a Cedar coat as well, and, as this wood will stand weather exposure better than other, Cedar Weather-boarding is being used.

This is the same specie of Cedar as that taken from the forests of Lebanon by the wise King Solomon for the building of the Temple. Future generations will look at the Built-Well Home as it stands un-marred by time and refer to its builder as one who built wisely in the year A. D. 1925.

Creo-Dipt Shingles may be obtained from the

Prevent Cows From Eating Garlic Tops

Disagreeable Flavor and Odor Spread Quickly.

One minute after garlic is eaten by a cow the disagreeable flavor and odor of this pungent plant may be detected in the milk. This is one of the facts brought out in an investigation carried on by the bureau of dairying, United States Department of Agriculture, and reported in Department Bulletin 1326, Effect of Garlic on the Flavor of Milk, by C. J. Babcock. The only practical way to prevent the appearance of this flavor and odor in milk in regions where the weed infests pastures is to keep the cows from eating the plant.
In the tests, which were made by giving to several persons samples of milk from cows milked at different periods after having been fed garlic and from check cows, it was found that the intensity of the bad flavor and odor increased until it reached a maximum at ten minutes after feeding the odorless ration. Bad flavor and odor were present to an objectionable degree when the cows ate one-half pound of garlic tops four hours before milking. As the time between the eating of the garlic and milking time increased, the bad flavor and odor diminished and in seven hours practically disappeared.
Not only were the garlic flavor and odor taken in by eating, but it was shown that inhaling garlic for ten minutes gives strong flavor and odor to the milk. Milk drawn 90 minutes after inhalation of garlic was practically free from objectionable flavors and odors.
Copies of the bulletin may be obtained free, as long as the supply lasts, from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Bordeaux Mixture Spray Will Protect Potatoes
When the potato plants are six inches high, spray with bordeaux mixture. See that every part of the plant, leaves, upper and under sides of the leaves, and stems are reached with the spray to protect them from blights and rust.
This spraying is very important, as it reaches the heart of the cluster of stems and leaves—which is hardest to reach as the plant grows.
Just as important is spraying to kill insect enemies. Use one-half pound of pure paris green in 50 gallons of the bordeaux mixture. Spray with the poison just as the eggs of the Colorado beetle first show signs of hatching. Make one or two more applications of the poison three to five days apart, as required.
Spray with bordeaux at least four times. Spray every ten days or two weeks until the potato tops get large enough to meet in the rows, or until they are as large as they ever will be. If you can't get in four sprayings ten days or two weeks apart while the plants are making this growth, spray oftener.
That is, do this if you are planting potatoes for profit. Careful tests in New Jersey show a profit of $40 an acre of potatoes by spraying, and similar results have been arrived at elsewhere. People who make a business of growing them for the market would never think of omitting the spraying. They know their business.

Trapping and Poisoning for Control of Gophers
Trapping and poisoning are methods recommended for the control of gophers, according to Fred D. Butcher, extension entomologist at Iowa State college. Traps set in runways should always be used to supplement other control measures. Special pocket gopher traps are advised.
For poisoning gophers, use a bait made by cutting sweet potatoes, carrots or parsnips into pieces about one inch long and about one-half inch in diameter. Wash and drain the pieces as soon as they are cut. Over one gallon of the bait sprinkle one-eighth of an ounce of powdered strychnine. Stir one or two pieces of bait into the gopher runways one or two feet from each mound. The runways may be located by means of a sharp stick or wagonbox endgate rod used as a probe and the bait dropped through the holes thus made. Close the holes after inserting the bait.

FARM NOTES
Spring is the best season for the planting of all kinds of nursery stock.
It is less costly to be prepared for apple scab than to be surprised by it.
Don't rely too much on your own opinion; men have been known to err.
Don't let the weeds get a start. It's worse than a large handicap in a foot race. Sharpen the hoes and start from the same mark.
An incubator room that can maintain a temperature ranging between 60 and 70 degrees F. will increase the efficiency of the incubator.

Two-thirds of the seed corn sent to the New Jersey College of Agriculture for test has been found unfit to be used for planting. Play safe and have yours tested.

Music Is Developing American Manhood

Boys' Camp Director Ranks Melody With Athletics As Educative Influence

Music and out-door sports are the headline pastimes of American youth, says Paul Pearse, owner of Camp Ha Wa Ya for boys in Harrison, Maine, and one of the most famous directors of boys' activities in the country.
"Music is more than half of camp life and as important as athletics in the development of American manhood," asserts Mr. Pearse. "At our camp, we have a pianist to play between courses at meals, so much a part of our schedule do we make music."
Camp Song
"I do not need to emphasize the place the camp song occupies in the affections of our lads. Everybody who has ever visited a camp and heard the boys shout lustily the strains of their favorite popular piece, can testify to the song loves of youngsters. They make up their own verses, which encourages originality and ingenuity. Two years ago they sang 'Yes, We Have No Bananas,' with infinite parodies. Last year, it was 'It Ain't Gonna Rain No More,' and this year it is 'My Gal Don't Love Me Any More,' which abounds in possibilities for impromptu verses.

Simple Tunes
"All of these songs have the simplest kind of tune but one that you remember the first time you hear it and find yourself whistling in the bath tub.
"It's good for hikes, too, with a marching rhythm. Do you know that we use as much care in selecting a song leader as we do in choosing a competent equestrian director, or nature teacher or tennis instructor? Music is getting to be a real part of the modern boy's education and it's my belief he is going to turn out something good in the way of composition some of these days as a result."

Radio Rooster Makes Debut

"Hungry Hank," radio rooster, was starved for a week before he made his debut before the microphone of WLS, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation station, Chicago. He was supposed to have a keen appetite. It was decided to give the WLS listeners an opportunity to participate in a unique contest, guessing the number of kernels the radio rooster would devour. "Hungry Hank" started off with a flourish and by the way he began it was thought he would break all corn-eating records, but he got stage fright before he had consumed a dozen, and when he refused to eat any more, it was found that his record was only 29 kernels. "Hungry Hank" was given to the radio fan who guessed closest to the number. That WLS listener was James P. Walsh of Streator, Ill., who guessed exactly 29 and won the prize.

Pleasant Prospect
"Well, how's trade?" inquired an old merchant of a young man who had just been taken into partnership with his father. "Very good," replied the young man. "I think father will soon be earning enough so I can retire."

Founder Guillotined
Lavoisier, the founder of modern chemistry, was in 1794 sentenced to death and guillotined by the Revolutionary tribunal because he had, under the king, held the post of farmer general of the revenue.
Punished for Pugnacity
Thomas Mowbray, duke of Norfolk, was banished from England by Richard I, in 1198, for challenging and preparing to meet in single combat Henry of Huntingdon, earl of Hereford, afterward King Henry IV.

PROMINENT SANDUSKY MEN UNDER ARREST

Probate Judge Tanney and Several Others are in the
Toils of the Law.

Toledo, O., July 30, (UP).—Five
prominent citizens of Sandusky, including Probate Judge John E. Tan-
ney, were at liberty on bond today,
following their arrest and arraign-
ment on charges of violating the prohibition act.

Those arrested, besides Judge Tan-
ney, were:

Russell Keller, Sandusky, undertaker, charged with possession, sale
and conspiracy.

Harvey Andrews, Elyria, possession, sale and manufacture.

Lee Ames, Sand Beach, possession,
sale and conspiracy.

John Lickey, possession, sale and
conspiracy.

The men were arraigned late Wednesday before United States Commissioner Gaines. All entered pleas of not guilty.

Tony Snyder, Sand Beach lunch
room owner, will be arraigned today
and jointly charged with Ames.

United States Marshal George
Weeks arrested Tanney while the latter was in his court room.

Judge Tanney denied charges contained in a warrant read to him.

Weeks said the arrests resulted
from a sweeping inquiry and were
brought about by prohibition agents
"planted" in the vacation throngs in
the Sandusky district.

The charges against Judge Tanney,
it was understood, grew out of an alleged offer to sell a quantity of liquor
to dry officers. The alleged offer, officials said, was made some time ago
when Judge Tanney and Keller were
dining with prohibition agents.

The agents, according to Weeks,
said Tanney and Keller not only provided drinks for the occasion but
made several enticing offers.

FIVE INJURED ONE FATALLY IN JOY RIDE

Fremont, O., July 29, (UP).—Clement Murphy, 25, and Vernon Blessing, 26, both of Fostoria, were held in jail here following a joy ride in which five persons were injured, one perhaps fatally.

The injured were struck by Murphy's car. Police said both men were intoxicated. Among the injured were Joe Howard, 30, American Legion official; Louis Titsworth, Harry Titsworth and Dr. and Mrs. Walter Foster, all of Fremont.
